

YES WE CAN LEAVE THE EU

The aim of the EU is to help multi national companies exploit workers at home and 'markets' abroad without 'interference' from governments We cannot change its aims or direction from 'inside' Our political leaders, of all parties, have abandoned their prime responsibility, to protect the sovereignty of the UK

NO DEAL

Ignore media hype about the brexit 'disaster'!
Without its 'master', the economy of Greenland,
the only nation to leave the EU, has thrived!

Human Rights? Unlike its member states, the EU is 'governed' by bankers not politicians. Nearly all social protection legislation including workers rights was enshrined in British Law long before the EU. It is precisely because real change happens through pressure on government from citizens that ordinary people will NEVER benefit in the long run from a political arrangement in which governments are unable to act against the interests of big business

Peace? The EU has backed every war waged by it's military wing, NATO, and by the US which supplies 72% of its 'firepower'. It fuelled civil wars in Yugoslavia and provoked others in Georgia and in the Ukraine where Russian speaking people do not want to fall under its influence. Wars are not caused by 'nationalism' or religion but by the big power rivalries and 'blocs' which seek to dominate nations in every part of the world

Freedom? The EU is the economic wing of a financial empire set up to plunder the resources of nation states including those of its members. In democratic societies the citizen is protected from the market by the state, the very opposite of the 'principle' on which the EU is founded. The TTIP deal signed by the EU with the United States means British governments will be unable to stop global corporations buying up what is left of our national assets including the NHS

Inclusion? The unnatural migration of EU 'citizens' is not about personal freedom but the need of multinational financial interests to 'compete' in the global 'marketplace'. Wages, like our public services, are put out to 'tender' with the poorest used as cheap labour driving down wage levels and undermining the bargaining power of unions. Added pressure on public services or another banking created recession will be 'relieved' as it was in Greece by the imposition of 'austerity'; in other words cutting our pensions, benefits, wages and services

Sovereignty? The EU is a 'closed shop' organised to confront 'rivals' in the east, not a welcome to the 'world'. Just as it does not view the nations of the non western world as equals, so, in the end, the European superstate will not view or treat its labour market as 'citizens'
